

Acacia minyura (translucent resin variant)

This entity is described and illustrated by Maslin & Reid (2012: 231, 234). It differs most obviously from A. minyura (typical variant) in the reddish brown, translucent resin on new shoots and youngest 1–3 phyllodes, and often more elongated phyllodes.

(B.R. Maslin)